

FAMILY RELOCATION HAMBURG

Dear family, dear employee,

Moving to a new city marks the beginning of a new daily routine. Over the course of our careers, we have observed that this is not always simple. At the same time, we've also learned that some practical help and a few good tips can go a long way towards making everything easier. This is why we at Family Relocation Hamburg focus specifically upon providing support to your family, so that you can feel at home from the get-go.

Providing personal and customized assistance to you and your family is our first priority. We can take all sorts of tasks off your hands in a competent and professional manner, offer support, and in the case of questions or problems at any time during your stay, are happy to offer a sympathetic ear. We can help you to overcome obstacles, be they linguistic, personal, or organizational.

Although Family Relocation Hamburg specializes in helping families, we are also experienced in assisting students, couples and singles.

On the following pages, you'll find compact information about our services, pricing, and our qualifications. This is meant to give you a general impression and reflects the information presented throughout our website. In addition, we'd be happy to speak with you about your needs and expectations and put together a customized package for you.

*Sincerely,
Corinna Gude and Nicole Lassen*

ABOUT US

Corinna Gude

I am a „true-blue“ Hamburg native who has also had significant experience with living abroad. For this reason, I know first-hand about what is involved when moving to another country. Following the completion of my studies in Romance studies, I then worked in the foreign trade and fashion industries in Germany and Italy.

After taking a brief hiatus to raise my children (two sons, born in 2003 and 2007), I began working as a freelance instructor of German as a foreign language. As most of my clients were families who had relocated from other countries, it quickly became apparent that in addition to the necessity of learning a new language, there was a great demand for support with all of the big and small challenges of readjustment and establishing a daily routine. It was in this manner that I was able to develop a large network that I can now quickly access in order to help you with your needs.

Nicole Lassen

After completing my education in foreign languages (English, French, Spanish), I was employed at a number of international companies in the oil industry and as the assistant to the CEO at Angermann & Partner. Following the birth of my children in 1998 and 2001, I took my first steps into self-employment in my work as a property manager and real estate agent. Since 2013, I not only broker properties, but with the aid of my network, also assist families and students from abroad to gain a strong foothold in Hamburg.

Over the past 28 years and in addition to my experiences in real estate, I have developed a vast network of friends, acquaintances, and service providers, with whose assistance I can overcome virtually any obstacle in a variety of languages. In particular, I have rapid access to Chinese and Japanese-speaking network partners. Helping others is a matter close to my heart.
